Has Bismarck Violated the Sanctity of the Mail?

The "Mysterious Influence" in Berlin.

High Treason to Publish the Missing Documents.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD BY CABLE.] BERLIN, Dec. 13, 1874.

The trial of Count Von Arnim has developed an interesting and very important issue, in the effort made on the part of the Crown Prosecutor to implicate the free press of America in the serious complication between Prince Bismarck and the ex-Minister of the Empire.

TELEGRAPH SPIES

Already several references have been made in Court to telegrams which the HERALD correspondent in the German capital forwarded to London for transmission by cable to New York

POLICE SUBVEILLANCE OF THE FREE PRESS OF AMERICA

One telegram, partly in cipher, which was read in Court, stated that important letters had been mailed for the London office of the HERALD. This was taken to imply a connivance on the part of the servants of the Hotel Rome, and detectives were examined to testify concerning the personal movements of the HERALD correspondent, who was, apparently, under police surveillance during the entire period of his stay in the city.

VON ARNIM'S TESTIMONY.

Count Von Arnim, when examined upon thesa points by the Judge, denied having any knowledge of the telegram. He declared also that he is unacquainted with the name of the HERALD correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13, 1874. Needful Improvement of the Missis-sippi's Mouth-The Jetty System Conger of Depopulation.
The commission sent to Europe to examine the etty system at the mouth of the Danube and other rivers, with a view to ascertain whether it could sinol, are now at Southwest Pass and have care fully examined the delta of the river before beginning their report. It is understood that both Generals Comstock and Wright are of the opinion that the jetty system is impracticable for the Mississippi and that the Fort St. Pallip Canal, the route of which is also being examined by snother commission, is the only way to avoid the mud lump blockade which has so seriously interfered with the nerce of the river.

The commission, consisting of three officers of the Engineer corps and two civil engineers, of whom General Warren is president, appointed by the President to report ipon the best method for improving the levees of the Mississippi River and reclaiming the lands, have finished their labors and will be ready to report in a few days. The commission are upantmous in the opinion that the government should egin at once a comprehensive system of rebuilding and improving the levees bordering on the sates of Arkansas, Misaissippi and Louisiana, as otherwise the crevasses caused by the floods of rged districts to more serious trouble than they have yet experienced and utterly impoverish the people of waat has been and ought still to be a prosperous and productive section of the counand by him, it is said, it will be sent to Congress with an urgent recommendation that Congress authorize the Engineer corps to proceed with the work and make for it a liberal appropriation.

Judge Swayne Not to Resign from the Supreme Bench-Secretary Bristow Undazzled by the Judicial Ermine-

The Cattell Case.
Judge Swayne, of the United States Supreme Court, authorizes a denial of the report of his in-tended resignation. His health is good and his rest. There is some reason to believe that persons anxious to get Mr. Bristow out of the Treasury, and thinking it possible to persuade him to accept a place on the Supreme Bench, were the authors of the report about Judge Swayne. The straightforward business course and direct, uncompromisalso his opinions on the currency and finance ques tions, create a strong opposition to him; but they have also made for him many strong friends. His determination to economize in the expenses of form some surplus officers out of place, and has just caused Mr. Cattell and his friends some disappointment. The Secretary could not see, it is said, the need for two financial agents in London, and he preferred Mr. Bigelow to Mr. Cattell, as likely to be the more efficient. It is understood to be not impossible to drive Mr. Bristow out of the Treasury, but he will hardly be drawn out by will he be worried out by petty annoyances. If he goes out it will be on a conflict of principle or of an important point in policy, and this does not seem probable just now.

Violence Anticipated, But Delayed, in New Orleans.

FLIGHT FROM THE CITY PREVENTED.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 13, 1874. After all the preparations made for attack on the State House, none was made. But the scare prevent any members of the Returning Board from fleeing the city before proclaiming the result. If they had such an intention they abandoned it, as they had a secret Sunday session to-day. Why they expect an attack on the State House is inexplicable, as the radicals are all at home nights. and if violence were intended for them the mot would go to their houses. The leaguers ridicule the idea of charging upon the empty Capitol or hunting any of the obnoxious men before Jan

McEnery to-day declares that the people will not do it, and if the pent-up torrent of indignation gets vent by lynching, within a day or two, it will be done by men for whose actions he and his party annot be held responsible.

It will certainly not be done by the leaguers. The fact that the streets, which every fine Sunday are crowded by young men, to-day are almost entirely deserted, is ominous of some mystery at work. It is believed that they are congregated in halls, making some preparations of a secret char-

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 13, 1874. The mystery attending the absence from the the White Leaguers is explained by the fact that to-night two companies went to the Jackson Railroad depot and scrutinized all the passengers and examined all the baggage to see that the members of the Returning Board do not escape with the returns. All the steamers were searched as well, and to-night patrols are watch-ing all the roads and ferries leading from the city. It is rumored that the people will to-morrow seat Monoure, the newly elected State Treasurer, atthough the Board has not yet promulgated the Apprehensions of Trouble in Washing-ton-The Policy of the White Leaguers. WASHINGTON, Dec. 18, 1874.

The Louisianians in Washington express great apprehensions of the action of the White League, nd profess to believe that this organization will move, when it does, with such rapidity and secrecy as to outwit the lederal troops. At the same time it is reported of the White Leaguers that they are determined to come into no condict with the determined to come into no condict with the sederal authorities, and that, however strong they may be, or however determined to act, a single federal sergeant will always be sufficient to disperse tnem. Thus the, mean to protest, but to avoid rebellion, and as the right to bear arms and to irretly meet in public assemblies is sacred, if they act up to their promises they may annoy kellogg and his barty without laying themselves open to interference.

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 13, 1874. Glibert B. Perkins, an operator of the United States Secret Service Bureau, arrested and brought to this city to-day two "shovers" of the "queer," named Benjamin F. Erway, of Harrison Valley, Potter county, this State, and Nathan B. Adams, of Coleburg, same county, on a charge of passing counterfeit money. Perkins got on the track of Erway at Fort Eric, when he was hunting the Ballard gang, but, having larger game in view, did not arrest him. He was secured in Potter county. Adams was arcaptured him, his only clew being a description. oth men are supposed to belong to the Ballard gang of counterfeiters, all the bills being identified as being made by that prince of counterfeiters, Tom Bullard. The men are lodged here in jail, and will have a bearing before United States commissioner Force on Tuesday evening. A woman, named Elenor M. Jones, was arrested at Wellsville, N. Y., by Perkins, who is probably of the same gang, as all the bills were tens on the same bank as above. She is at Buffalo under $2,500 ball.

Death and Destruction.
WATERTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 13, 1874. A fire at Carthage, N. Y., broke out in the livery stable of C. Gates, on Canal street, destroying the table, with its contents, together with two small tenements east of the stable, and causing the death of an old gentleman. Voiney S. Warren, the former proprietor of the stable, with his two children and his lather were asleep in rooms over the office of the stable at the time the fire broke out. Volney rushed to the balcony on the front of the he ran back to rescue his lather and children, but he ran back to rescue his lather and children, but the flames and smoke drove him back on the bal-copy, when he fell off, breaking his right arm twice. He was also seriously burned on the arms and legs. The two children got out uninjured, but the father of Mr. Warren, an old man, was burned to death in his bed, his charred bones being found after the fire. The loss is estimated at $5,000; insured for $2,000.

INCENDIARY PIRE IN MASSACRUSETTS.

A CHURCH ON FIRE.

After the close of the services in the Roman Catholic Courch of St. Vincent de Paul, North Sixth street, Brooklyn, E. D., last evening, and while some three hundred of the congregation were still within the edifice, flames burst forth from the floor at the front row of pews. Father Farrelly, urged the lingering worshippers to scient the church without informing them of the reason for his hatte. Before the last were able to reach the door they caught sight of the fire, but the kind priest persistently hastened the clearing of the house and closed the doors. An alarm was then promptly responded to by the Fire Department, who subdued the fire with small loss.

A SUNDAY BARBOOM ROW IN WILLIAMS-

Yesterday morning, about nine o'clock, Andrew Schmidt, of No. 288 South Second street, returning from his Saturday night's spree, called in the saloon of Nicholas Puckhaber, on the northeast corner of Brondway and Seventa street, and called for a drink. It was furnished him, whereupon he called for another, which was refused until he paid for the first. Being unable to do so, the partender, James Bohlmann, aged eighteen years, tender, James Bohlmann, aged eighteen years, threw a lager beer may at him. Schmidt retails ated with a coal scuttle, whereupon Bohlmann, taking a cho from behind the bar, jumped over it, and, attacking the fellow, beat him to a shameful manner about the head and shoulders, and then threw him into the street. The police, finding him bleeding, entered the saloon and arrested Bohlmann, who is locked up in the Fifth Precinct station house. Schmidt was also placed in confinement—after his wounds were dressed—on a charge of intexication.
